

IRELAND IN THE NINETEENTH-CENTURY: REGIONAL IDENTITY

Glenn Hooper and Leon Litvack, editors

Contents

Leon Litvack and Glenn Hooper Introduction	9
I CORES
Leon Litvack Exhibiting Ireland, 1851-3: Colonial Mimicry in London, Cork and Dublin	15
Elizabeth Tilley Charting Culture in the Dublin University Magazine	58
A. Jamie Saris Imagining Ireland in the Great Exhibition of 1853	66
Eva Maria Stöter Region vs. Nation: Nineteenth-Century 'Germany' as a Mirror for Irish Regional/National Politics	87
II PERIPHERIES
Jacqueline Belanger The Desire of the West: The Aran Islands and Irish Identity in Grania	95
Patrick Maume The Papish Minister: Shan Bullock, John Haughton Steele, and the Literary Portrayal of the Nineteenth-Century Clergyman	108
Brian Caraher Edgeworth, Wilde and Joyce: Reading Irish Regionalism through 'the cracked lookingglass' of a Servant's Art	123
Frances Botkin Edgeworth and Wordsworth: Plain Unvarnished Tales	140
Richard McMahon The Regional Administration of a Central Legal Policy	156
III NATIONS
Seán Ryder The Politics of Landscape and Region in Nineteenth-Century Poetry	169
Kevin Whelan Writing Ireland: Reading England	185
Michael McAteer 'Ireland and the Hour': Paternalism and Nationality in Standish James O'Grady's Toryism and the Tory Democracy	199
Glenn Hooper The Pursuit of Signs: Searching for Ireland after the Union	215